Report 1: An Overview

With a mission to become an internationally recognized liberal arts university with Hong Kong characteristics, Lingnan has charted a course of developments, improvements and changes in many areas to achieve its goals. Against a background of funding cuts and reductions in student numbers, we have managed to develop and improve in many aspects in the past few years. The results of the Research Assessment Exercises (RAEs), which are conducted periodically by the Research Grants Council, illustrate the remarkable journey that the University has made in this area of its work. At the time of the first RAE in 1994, our institution-wide research performance index, although acceptable in the circumstances, did not compare well with the established 'old' Universities. Results of the 1996 RAE showed considerable improvement, which rose to 22.80% from 12.32% in 1994. Even though the UGC had adopted a higher threshold standard in the 1999 RAE than in those for 1994 and 1996, the outcomes signified a momentous leap -- the institution-wide index of Lingnan jumped to 38.85% and the index of three of our cost centres, namely Chinese, English and Social Sciences, surpassed the sector-wide average. Our goal is to increase the research index to 55% or higher by 2005.

● Institutional Policy on Research

Striking an appropriate balance between teaching and research is central to the University's approach to the development of a research culture. While teaching is its primary mission, research is seen as a vital activity which supports and enriches teaching. The University's research policy is designed to optimize the use of research funds through quality enhancement, focused development and collaborative synergy. Quality enhancement is achieved through faculty appointment and continuing improvement of its existing staff profile. Focused development is achieved as a result of identification of areas of excellence and the recruitment of faculty to build up strengths in these areas. Collaborative synergy is fostered by establishing research centres that provide both research support and coordination. In order to encourage staff to engage in research and reward those staff who demonstrate excellence in research, a Research Excellence Award Scheme was established in 2001-02.

● Research Collaboration and Highlights

The University has established a number of research institutes and centres to stimulate academic research that will enhance the research productivity of the University. These centres are primarily the research arms of teaching faculty. Typically, they organize conferences and seminars, and facilitate research by providing a platform for the organization and networking of research activities, as well as a framework of backup support in research at the institutional level. Each research centre has a distinct focus and is clearly related to the research of many of the colleagues at the University.

The Asia-Pacific Institute of Ageing Studies (APIAS), the Centre for Asian Pacific Studies (CAPS), the Centre for Public Policy Studies (CPPS), the Centre for Literature and Translation (CLT) were consolidated and a new management structure was implemented in 2001-02. With the exception of the CLT which changed its name to the Centre for Humanities Research (CHR) with a widened scope, the names of the other research centres remained unchanged.

The APIAS, CAPS, CPPS and CHR now fall under the aegis of a newly set up Institute of Humanities and Social Sciences (IHSS). The formation of the IHSS, a parallel entity to the Hong Kong Institute of Business Studies (HKIBS), provides a symmetry in the University's research organization structure. Both Institutes report to the Management Board of Research Institutes which serves as their governing body and is responsible for setting University research policies as well as considering the budgets of the Research Centres. One of the merits of establishing the IHSS is that it provides a focus in humanities and social sciences research. This helps to further enhance the status of Lingnan as a liberal arts institution, and to bring about synergy among the research units whilst retaining the distinct focus of each. Since its formation, the IHSS has already hosted ten successful interdisciplinary seminars and initiated two research projects that cut across the boundary between the Humanities and the Social Sciences.

It has been an especially active year for the APIAS, which raised over $2 million in external research funding. The Institute has strategically moved into specific research areas including programme evaluation and action research. As a lead institute of the Ageing Research Network based in Singapore, the APIAS is responsible for grants allocation and publications funded by the International Development Research Centre (IDRC is a Canadian-funded charity promoting international research collaboration). Substantial local links for research work and collaboration have also been set up with local agencies, government departments, and non-governmental organizations. These include the Hong Kong Housing Society, Hospital Authority, Shamshuipo District Council, Caritas Hospital, Castle Peak Hospital, Hong Kong Society for the Aged, Evangelical Lutheran Church Social Service, and Kwai Chung Hospital.

The CAPS has gone through a fruitful year of academic activities within the new framework of the IHSS. It hosted two international conferences and six seminars, all highly successful. The Fourth International Conference on Sino-American Economic Relations under the World Trade Organization (in cooperation with the CPPS, Institute of American Studies of the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences, and All-China Federation of American Economic Studies) took place in May 2002, with some 70 scholars from the United States, Singapore, Malaysia, Germany, Japan, Vietnam and Chinese Mainland. Together with the Hong Kong Centre for Studies on Relations across the Taiwan Strait, Hong Kong Tsung Tsin Association, and Friends of Hong Kong & Macau Association, Taipei, a successful conference on Development of Cross-strait Economic Relations after the Accession of the Mainland and Taiwan to the WTO was held, from which papers were published as an edited volume by the Taiwan co-sponsors.

The varied research activities of the CPPS are subsumed under three Research Clusters: (1) Labour, Human Capital Investment and Industrial Policy, (2) Urban, Health and Environmental Policy, and (3) Socio-Economic Justice and Collective Behaviour. In 2001-02, the Centre published quite a number of working papers, and with the CAPS and the HKIBS, three issues of The Lingnan Commentary – a quarterly review of economic, business, and social issues by Lingnanians and Lingnan's associates, who strive to provide the best analysis and commentary on current issues in Hong Kong SAR, the Mainland, and the world at large.

After a major restructuring, the CHR was able to start its work in full force and to collaborate with the Hong Kong Film Archive in researching Hong Kong Cinema during 1950s-1960s. Eight Lingnan undergraduate students have participated in the project and their research findings were later presented in a public exhibition of Hong Kong Films and Popular Culture of the 50s and 60s. The Centre has also worked closely with the Project Team of "Cultural Research and Development: A Liberal Arts Model for Humanities Education", one of the two AoEs submitted by Lingnan to bid for UGC funding. With the assistance of the Library, the CHR is set to launch a new initiative, called the "Virtual Library of Hong Kong Literature".

The HKIBS, the research arm of the Business Programmes, has enjoyed another fruitful year of research. A large-scale joint research on the Developments and Prospects of Economic Development in the Pearl River Delta and Its Economic Integration" with Hong Kong and Macau is in full swing and is expected to be completed in early 2003. Jointly led by the directors of the HKIBS and the Centre of Studies for Hong Kong, Macau & the Pearl River Delta of Zhongshan University, the research team comprises 12 researchers from Lingnan and 8 from Zhongshan. In addition, during the year under review, the HKIBS organized 8 research seminars and, in collaboration with the Hong Kong Society of Asia-Pacific 21 and the Institute of Asia-Pacific Studies of Waseda University, an International Symposium on Restructuring the Japanese and East Asian Economies. About 100 scholars from Japan, the United States, Canada, Singapore, Russia and the four Chinese economic areas (ie the Mainland, Taiwan, Hong Kong and Macau) met in Waseda University, Tokyo in November 2001. The Symposium covered a wide range of topics including economic relations between Japan and Asian countries; prospects of economic integration among ASEAN, China, Japan, and South Korea ("10+3"); China -Russia economic relations; and Australia in East Asia globalization; etc.

● Research Promotion

A five-member Lingnan delegation led by President Edward CHEN made remarkable progress in exploring collaborative opportunities with six major universities and research institutions in China during a trip in April 2002. The University delegation met senior officials of the Ministry of Education, the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences, the Beijing Service Bureau for Diplomatic Missions, Tsinghua University, Renmin University of China and the China Centre for Economic Research at Peking University.

The Chinese Academy of Social Sciences and Lingnan had been working closely on various academic projects, such as the "The Fourth International Conference on Sino-American Economic Relations under WTO" mentioned above. A tentative agreement was reached between the University and the Academy's Research Institute of Industrial Economics to co-organize a conference on "Economic Cooperation between the Chinese Mainland and Hong Kong".

At the Beijing Service Bureau for Diplomatic Missions, Lingnan delegates explored partnership opportunities with Director ZHANG Limin and Assistant Director XU Xinmin. The University and the Bureau have joined forces in several projects since 1998. To strengthen the collaboration, both parties agreed that the University would offer human resource management and property management courses for the Bureau's staff, while the Bureau would design a summer course in modern Chinese society tailored for Lingnan students.

The Lingnan delegation also visited Tsinghua University, Renmin University of China and the China Centre for Economic Research at Peking University. In addition to paying a courtesy return visit to Renmin University of China, the Lingnan delegates also discussed details of the cooperation agreement with Renmin University signed at the beginning of this year, and were welcomed by the President of Renmin University of China, Prof JI Baocheng. The two universities plan to co-host a conference on humanities education in the Chinese Mainland, Taiwan, Hong Kong and Macau in the near future.

At Tsinghua University, a tentative agreement was reached to begin an exchange programme for five undergraduates each from Lingnan's Translation and Tsinghua's English Language Studies programmes in the second semester of 2002-03. At Peking University, Lingnan delegates were warmly received by Prof LIN Yifu, Director of the China Centre for Economic Research. The parties agreed on a student exchange programme, with details to be worked out in due course.

● Postgraduate Research Work

In the area of postgraduate research work, Lingnan is able to develop a good pool of research students who have contributed significantly to the research culture of the university through their own research activities, participation in departmental interdisciplinary seminars and teaching in our undergraduate programmes. Lingnan admitted its first batch of Master of Philosophy students in 1995. In 2000, the University launched its Doctor of Philosophy programmes taking into account of the fact that Lingnan had successfully produced MPhil graduates and its staff profile had been strengthened. Seven postgraduate programmes at masters and doctoral level are now on offer: Chinese, Cultural Studies, English, Philosophy, Translation, Business Studies and Social Sciences. The number of research postgraduate students has shown a modest growth, from 5 fte in 1995 to 33.5 fte in 2001. Our research postgraduate students, though small in number, have received great attention from the University and good advice from their supervisors.

In order to encourage students' involvement in independent research, the Social Sciences Programme has in the recent past established various awards, such as the Best Directed Research Project and the Outstanding Social Sciences Student Award, which have produced positive results. In 1999-00 and 2001-02 two Directed Research Projects from the programme have won the Hong Kong Health and Safety Awards; a third year student presented her Directed Research Project report at the 13th Annual International Conference on Women in Higher Education, New Orleans, USA; and a postgraduate student won the Sir Edward Youde Memorial Scholarship. Two students from the programme have been awarded the competitive W T Chan Fellowships of the Lingnan Foundation for six months' study in the U.S.A. In 2001, two MPhil students presented papers at the conference organized by the Singapore Association of Gerontology in Singapore. In 2002, a postgraduate student had her thesis findings published in a top journal in Social Gerontology. These are examples of the success of the encouragement for our students to take part in research and the use of assessments that are appropriate to the character of our liberal arts curriculum.

To further enrich our academic programmes at the postgraduate level, two self-financed programmes by coursework have been offered since 2001-02: Master of Arts in English Studies and Executive Master of Business Administration. In addition, we plan to launch a Master of Cultural Studies and a Master of International Banking and Finance on self-financed basis in the 2001-04 triennium.

● Challenges Ahead

We believe the success of any educational enterprise is determined ultimately by the quality, experience and commitment of its academic staff. Our major concern during the last five years has been to improve the academic staff profile in terms of relevant qualifications and experience for the delivery of high-quality degree-level teaching, and to encourage academic staff to undertake research and scholarly activity without losing sight of the importance of teaching excellence, collegiality and close staff-student relations. Accordingly, we have developed policies for the recruitment, retention and development of staff which we believe will enable us to establish and maintain a vigorous community of scholars of the highest calibre, committed to the mission and vision of the University as a leading liberal arts institution.

With our University's emphasis on quality teaching, we envisage the development of the Areas of Excellence (AoE) as being more than an additional asset to encourage research among faculty and postgraduate students. They are also important to the teaching mission of Lingnan. We place great emphasis on inter-disciplinary research, and also seek to implement a similar interchange between teaching and research, between undergraduate and postgraduate students, and between faculty and students at all levels.

Lingnan is committed to the continuous development of identified areas of strength as far as possible within the constraints of its budget. So far the University has developed the following three internal AoEs: (1) Hong Kong Literature and Culture; (2) Social Gerontology; and (3) Overseas Chinese Business. Recently, it has proposed the following two AoEs to UGC for fund bidding; “Cultural Research and Development: A Liberal Arts Model for Humanities Education” and Programme on Economic Development and China’s Evolving Institutional and Business Environment”. We hope that in future rounds of allocations, the UGC will give due recognition to AoEs in Humanities and Social Sciences.

Number / Letter Codes Used in Report 3

Classification of Research Output Categories

1 Scholarly books, monographs and chapters

- 11 Research book or monograph (author) – Authored work generally arising from academic research project(s) although contract research can produce such results if findings are in the public domain
- 12 Chapter in an edited book (author) – A paper, essay, or other material authored specifically for inclusion in an edited book; does not include an opening or summary chapter prepared by an editor for inclusion in a work counted in (12)
- 13 Textbook (author) – A full-length authored work used for instructional purposes; include revisions if they involve "substantial" (say 20%) new material
- 14 Edited book (editor) – an edited book of essays, research papers or the equivalent

2 Journal publications

- 21 Publication in refereed journal – A paper in a refereed journal devoted to reporting the results of basic or applied research
- 22 Publication in policy or professional journal – A paper in a refereed or unrefereed journal publishing policy or educational material for a professional audience

3 Conference papers

- 31 Invited conference paper – A paper invited for presentation at an academic or professional meeting and published in conference proceedings
- 32 Refereed conference paper – A paper accepted for presentation at an academic or professional meeting on the basis of a formal peer review process external to the institution and published in conference proceedings
- 33 Other conference paper – Any other paper presented at an academic or professional conference

4 Creative and literary works, consulting reports and case studies

- 41 Authored play, poem, novel, story – Fictional or similar works, published in a form appropriate to the type of work
- 42 Painting, sculpture, drawing, photograph – Creation of artefacts capable of being reviewed for merit, generally but not exclusively of an artistic nature [exclude those covered in (44) below]
- 43 Film, video – Creation of films, videos, multimedia, and similar productions for research, educational, cultural or entertainment purposes [exclude those covered in (44) below]
- 44 Performance and participation in exhibits – Drama, musical and similar performances; participation as an exhibitor of paintings, sculptures or other artefacts: the exhibit may be sponsored by the institution or externally; it should attract significant public or professional attention
- 45 Translation of other's work – Translation of an item of type (11) through (22) and (41) above, written by others: translation of one's own work is considered part of the authoring process and should not be included
- 46 Engineering, architectural, graphic designs – An engineering, architectural, graphic, landscape, or interior design (or the equivalent), whether prepared for a client or in the public domain
- 47 Computer software or system – Development of a shareable computer software program, computer language, expert system, computer-aided instruction package or the equivalent
- 48 Consulting or contract research report – Report on work performed under an institutional consulting or research contract: reports counted here generally will be prepared for the client, and they may be proprietary if institutional rules permit
- 49 Written teaching case study or extensive note – Material prepared for teaching purposes with applicability beyond one's own course needs; short notes and descriptions prepared for immediate class use should not be included

5 Patents, agreements, assignments and companies

- 51 Patents issued – patents on work done at the reporting institution issued within the specified reporting period; not patents filed, not patents held in previous years, and not patents obtained/held on work done elsewhere
- 52 Licensing agreements – the licensing of technology/invention from the reporting institution within the specified reporting period
- 53 Assignments of intellectual property rights – the assignment based on technology/invention from the reporting institution within the specified reporting period
- 54 Companies – registered companies in which the institution holds an equity by virtue of technology transfer, where the acquisition of such equity (including any increase in equity) by technology transfer occurred during the specified reporting period

6 All other outputs

- 61 Journal editor – Editor, associate editor, or the equivalent of a journal or similar on-going publication venture
- 62 Review of books or of software – Published or widely-disseminated reviews of books, other publications, software or similar items: dissemination must extend beyond the institution and its research sponsors [reviews for institutional clients should be counted under (49)]
- 63 Postgraduate research theses – MPhil or PhD theses of research students who defended successfully within the specified reporting period
- 64 Other outputs – Any substantive output of original research not listed above

9 Selected output categories

- 924 Article for newspaper or popular journal – An article, column, or other work in a newspaper or popular journal: that is, an unrefereed journal devoted to the dissemination of news and commentary for a broad audience
- 934 Working paper – A research paper distributed for comment to academic colleagues inside or outside the institution
- 962 High-level public or professional service – High-level service external to the institution: for example, on a Committee such as UGC, RGC, or VTC, as an officer of a professional body, or as a senior advisor to gov't or business
- 971 Speech or other prestigious public presentation – A public presentation not classified as teaching or falling under the "conference" headings given above: the presentation may be within the institution or to an external audience; "prestigious" means "significantly enhancing the reputation of the individual and his/her institution" as opposed to (say) a routine lecture

Types of Research Output

- A Academic research : refereed
- B Academic research : not refereed
- C Contract research
- D Other outputs

Notes

1. Publications are listed by cost centres. For each publication, the name(s) of the author(s) belonging to the corresponding cost centre (during the reporting period) is/are underlined. In the case of students, a "#" is placed against their names.
2. The fraction appearing in the "Weighting" column of those co-authored items denotes the weighting of the authors concerned, calculated on a pro-rata basis. For example, a paper with four authors will count as 0.25 for each author, and if three of the four authors are academic staff (Grades A-N) in the same cost centre, the paper will count as $3 \times 0.25 = 0.75$ in the cost-centre total.
