Explanatory Notes for Report 3

The vision of Lingnan University (LU) is to excel as an internationally recognized liberal arts university distinguished by outstanding teaching and the highest standards of scholarship. While teaching is the primary focus of our work, LU is committed to achieving excellence and innovation in both teaching and research, including the training of research postgraduate students. In the 2013/14 reporting period, the University had 137 GRF/ECS eligible staff members (13 Chair Professors, 28 Professors, 58 Associate Professors and 38 Assistant Professors). There were also 84 research postgraduate students (33 PhD and 51 MPhil), 61.9% of whom were non-local.

Nine research centres/institutes with seven focused research areas are identified in our Strategic Plan 2009-2016. These research areas are Modern Literature in Chinese, International Financial Markets and Economic Performance, Taxation in China, Conflict Management in Chinese Business, Ageing and Work-Life Balance, Cinema Studies, and Cultural Policy and Heritage. The list is by no means all-encompassing, as faculty members have the freedom to develop their own research interests and are recognized for the quality and international competitiveness attained.

1. Policy

LU's research policy is underpinned by a three-pronged approach of focused development, quality enhancement and collaborative endeavour. Focused development is achieved by identifying priority areas for research and recruiting staff to build up critical mass in those areas. Quality enhancement is enabled through the selective appointment and promotion of quality and high-performing staff, and the provision of academic leave and exchange schemes. Collaborative endeavour is fostered through the establishment of research centres serving as foci for the convergence of faculty research interests and to attract external funding.

1.1 Institutional policy on research

Supportive measures have been adopted by the University's Research Committee to encourage grant-funded research. These include: (a) providing internal teaching remission of one course per year for the duration of the project to principal investigators (PIs) who have obtained GRF/ECS or other competitive earmarked research grants of RGC; (b) reserving the internal Direct Grant (DG) for application by PIs who have GRF/ECS proposals scoring 3.0 or 3.5; and (c) increasing the academic department's share of project indirect/on-costs allocated to the University by RGC. The teaching remission scheme has been implemented since the 2012/13 funding round, while the other two initiatives were launched in this reporting period.

1.2 Relationship between research policy and other institutional policies

a) Research postgraduate training

In the education of research postgraduate students, the University places high priority on offering quality support for students and provides funding annually to support them to attend conferences. During the reporting period, the University supported them to attend 10 conferences and give 41 paper presentations and one poster presentation. The integration of these students into academic activities of Departments is evidenced by their participation as presenters in departmental seminars, membership of research project teams and co-authorship of publications with faculty members (see Report 3).

b) Undergraduate research training

This has been in practice with the support of ECS funding specially provided for this purpose, and is more widely explored now on top of what some Faculties have already implemented as credit-bearing requirements for students, which include conducting research projects, attending research seminars given by professors, writing about a selected topic, and participating in surveys and data collection.

c) Faculty staff development

The faculty staff development policy has direct impact on research productivity. With this in mind, the University has pursued several measures to facilitate young faculty members to conduct research, to create space for both senior and junior faculty to engage in uninterrupted periods of research and writing, and to recognize those who have excelled in their research endeavours.

The Initial Research Activities Fund for newly recruited Assistant Professors provides ancillary funding for research-related activities without requiring a formal research proposal. Four members in this category had received the fund in the reporting period. The study/academic leave scheme enables academic staff to be released from teaching and administrative duties for 6-12 months to concentrate on research, study and writing full-time. Eleven such awards of one half term each were given in the reporting period for leave to be taken between July 2014 and June 2015. The Academic Staff Review Committee which assesses staff performance has instituted an annual evaluation of excellence in research publication, whereby top performers may be given one course of teaching remission as a reward.

In addition, two faculty members were awarded the Research Excellence Award 2014 while two were awarded the Honourable Mention. This biennial Research Excellence Awards Scheme is to give recognition and encouragement to academic staff at the rank of Associate Professor or below who have demonstrated a high standard of research with a proven track record in publication.

d) Knowledge Transfer

At LU we take pride in nurturing students with liberal arts education for a wider horizon to embrace social and corporate responsibilities in their civil lives and careers. In the same vein, Knowledge Transfer (KT) is to engage both the faculty and students in extending their knowledge and research outcomes from the campus to what is of social relevance and concern.

In the reporting period, 38 projects at a total contract value of HK$24 million were conducted by faculty members in consultancies, collaborative and contract research. Another 275 KT projects and activities using resources from within and outside of the University were carried out in the forms of professional advice, service learning, performance of arts, exhibitions and public lectures. A key contributor to these achievements has been our successful engagement of more than 100 industry and community partners. These partners provide not only the resources for some projects, but also importantly the platforms and networks through which the impact of our initiatives can more effectively reach the target beneficiaries, who were in the number of some 12,000 in the reporting year.

The Office of Research Support (ORS), which has been newly designated to report on the overall KT achievements of the University, has been actively promoting the vital link between research and KT, which is, how our research outputs and faculty expertise can be extended to the direct benefits of people beyond the campus - whether in enhancing the community's quality of life, or raising the professional standards of the industry.

2. Research Funding

2.1 Organization of research funding

The Research Committee (RC) under the Senate is responsible for both policy formulation and oversight of research activities at the University. It recommends to the University the annual allocation for the research budget and related funding schemes, decides on internal research and conference funds, and monitors the progress of research projects within its purview.

Each Faculty has its Research and Postgraduate Studies Panel (RPSP) to undertake the initial assessment of applications for internal research grants and make funding recommendations to the RC. There are two internal research funding schemes – the Direct Grant (DG) of up to HK$120,000 per project, and the Faculty Research Grant (FRG) for projects up to HK$50,000 each. The DG is based on GRF/ECS results whilst the FRG is assessed by the RPSPs which offer recommendations to the RC.

The ORS provides full administrative support for the RC and assists the RPSPs of Faculties in their FRG application and review exercises. It also has the important role of managing internal and external research fund accounts to ensure that funding guidelines and budgetary procedures are properly followed by principal investigators.

2.2 Funding criteria

Internal grant applications are assessed through a rigorous process of peer review which takes into account the need to be supportive and constructive while also ensuring that only sound project ideas with well-thought out plans can receive funding support. The criteria used in assessing applications are academic merit, feasibility of completion within the proposed time frame, budgetary appropriateness and the track record of the investigator(s). The competitive nature of the process serves to acquaint new faculty with the rigor of peer review for grant proposals, as they will eventually have to submit proposals for peer-reviewed external grants.

2.3 Usage and allocation of research funds

The University has allocated a total budget of HK$7,091,100 to support research and academic development for 2013/14. The budget was distributed among the internal research grants (55.7%), conference grants (19.7%), internal teaching remission for GRF/ECS success (14.6%), University conference fund (4.4%), teaching relief for top performance academic staff (3.7%), and staff academic exchange (1.9%).

In the reporting period, the RC approved a total of HK$833,100 to support 8 DG projects. Faculty RPSPs supported 30 FRG projects across the three Faculties at a total of HK$1,274,647. Another HK$1,344,523 was approved to support staff to attend 123 overseas and two local conferences, giving paper presentations in majority of cases. The RC also allocated HK$282,440 from the University Conference Fund to two conferences organized by our Departments and Research Centres on the Lingnan campus. The careful consideration given by RC to these applications ensures that money is well spent on activities that can generate productive gains. Initial results were seen in internal grants acting as precursor of GRF applications and conference papers directly contributing to the research output volume. Lists of internal research grants funded by the Block Grant and Direct Allocation (including on-going projects carried over from 2012/13 and earlier) are given in Reports 2(A) and 2(B).

3. Research Promotion & Collaborations

To establish and facilitate research collaborations with other universities and institutions, scholars from mainland China and overseas were invited by Departments to meet our faculty members and explore collaboration opportunities. Scholars shared their research projects or ideas by delivering academic seminars and public lectures. During the reporting period, there were academic visitors from renowned institutions including Peking University, University of Oxford, University of Chicago, Monash University, Princeton University, University of British Columbia, University of New South Wales, and McMaster University.

The University has established a dedicated fund to support outgoing visits by faculty members to mainland China and the less-developed economies of Asia, and incoming visits to Lingnan by scholars from those places. In the reporting year, the scheme funded four outgoing and two incoming visits that enhanced Lingnan's links with universities and research institutions such as Nanjing University, Xinjiang Normal University, Sichuan University, and the University of Yangon, Myanmar.

With the support of the Sino-British Fellowship Trust, scholars of our University and their counterparts at UK institutions have benefited from the exchange of knowledge and research experience in 42 activities over the years. Some of these have resulted in fruitful collaborations like the research projects now being worked on between academics in our Economics Department and partners from the University of Birmingham and King's College London. This follows some earlier exchanges with faculty members from University College London, which altogether have generated three joint publications, two joint GRF proposals and a successful ESRC-RGC grant.

Collaborative links pursued by the faculty have grown considerably. They are actively collaborating with international researchers in GRF projects, publishing co-authored papers in academic journals, and co-authoring books. In our on-going GRF projects, considerable research collaborations are being conducted with co-investigators from Tsinghua University (China), Max-Planck Institute for Intelligent Systems (Germany), universities in the US including Massachusetts Institute of Technology, University of Missouri-St. Louis, William Paterson University, Fordham University, College of Charleston, and the HEC Montréal and Brock University in Canada.

Other collaborative endeavours include joint conferences and community outreach projects. The Department of Economics hosted a workshop with the Hong Kong Economic Association (HKEA) and two local universities on “Tax Reform: Directions for a Better World” in September 2013. Speakers included scholars from international and local universities and professionals from the industry. The Department also co-organized a conference in June 2014 with Duxes Shanghai on “Anti-Trust Asia Pacific Summit 2014” which expanded upon the already-established annual China-focused international forum, thus broadening the discussion to cover the greater Asian-Pacific Region. Later in the same month, the Centre for Humanities Research co-organized the annual International Young Scholars’ Academic Conference with the Graduate Institute of Taiwan Literature and Transnational Cultural Studies of the National Chung Hing University, and Hankuk University of Foreign Studies in Korea. Lingnan academics and research students presented papers and gained much from the interflow of ideas and experience with their counterparts from those institutions.

4. Research Highlights

4.1 Research Assessment Exercise (RAE) 2014

The RAE provided a good opportunity for us to take stock of our research performance with Faculties and Departments reviewing and reporting their research portfolios and strategies. Our research efforts are well distributed across the University. All 124 RAE eligible academic staff members were involved in this exercise. Altogether they submitted 481 items of output for assessment as against 457 expected items. This is mainly due to our new researchers submitting more than the reduced number allowed of them. All 13 cost centres returned listings of esteem measures and external competitive peer-reviewed grants. On the latter, a total of 68 external grants were listed, involving 45 staff members.

Through this exercise, we have further identified our existing strengths in terms of the following indicators:

- a) Spread of research strength* Based on AHCI/SSCI (2007-2013) indexed outputs, our top research areas are, in descending order, Economics, Psychology, Other Social Sciences, Operations Research Management Science, Sociology, Communication, Cultural Studies and Anthropology, Area and Asian Studies, Linguistics and Literature, History, Philosophy, and Geriatrics and Gerontology.
- b) Local benchmarking with other UGC institutions* Our average citations per SSCI/AHCI indexed output (3.36) and H-index (19) compare favourably with two other UGC institutions and rank higher than one institution.
- c) Overseas benchmarking with peers of same mission* Our average citations per SSCI/AHCI indexed output score ranks higher than four out of six top US and Canadian liberal arts universities (Amherst, Williams, Mount Allison, UNBC) and our H-index score is higher than three of them (Amherst, Mount Allison, UNBC).

- d) *Internationalization and collaboration Based on AHCI/SSCI (2012/13) indexed outputs, 1/3 of our publications are co-authored with researchers from 32 major overseas and Chinese universities.

4.2 Grants

In the 2013/2014 funding exercise, 12 GRF, 5 ECS and 2 HSSPFS grants were awarded to our faculty at a total of HK$8,668,299, which represented an increase of 46% in funding compared to the previous year. Application success rates were 31.6% (GRF), 41.7% (ECS), and 100% (HSSPFS). A total of 50 GRF/ECS applications were submitted, representing a marked increase from the 39 proposals submitted in the previous year. In addition, there were 3 proposals awarded the Public Policy Research (PPR) Fund by the Central Policy Unit at a total of HK$1,504,707.

4.3 External Funds & Professional Outreach

Research projects which are funded by sources other than the UGC/RGC continue to increase in diversity and outreach. In 2013/14, the Department of Chinese, Department of Visual Studies and Department of Cultural Studies successfully obtained a total of HK$603,200 for 4 new projects. In terms of on-going projects, there were 32 projects at a total contract value of more than HK$20 million. A noteworthy one is the HK$8.6 million project titled “Compilation of Annals of Chinese Opera Hong Kong Volume & Anthology of Chinese Opera Hong Kong Volume” commissioned by the HK Heritage Museum for our Kwan Fong Cultural Research and Development Programme since July 2012, as part of a national project of the State Ministry of Culture. Furthermore, our research and contributions extend beyond Hong Kong in the HK$2.9 million project “Macao Old-age Security Inter-Departmental Study” funded by the Government of the Macao SAR for our Asia-Pacific Institute of Ageing Studies. A full list in this category is provided in Report 2(C).

Faculty members are increasingly putting their expertise and efforts in community research projects in Hong Kong and mainland China. Some have strong connections with the community, and many of these projects have been supported by foundations, community bodies, and industry partners such as Intel China, Hong Kong Heritage Museum, Cantonese Opera Development Fund, Shih Wing Ching Foundation Ltd, the HK Early Childhood Development Research Foundation, Tuen Mun District Council, Tung Wah Group of Hospitals, Hong Kong Housing Society, and Airport Authority of the HKSAR. Our academics and scholars are consulted for their professional inputs by business, professional and diplomatic organizations in Hong Kong. Contributions are also actively made by them in the media and public arenas – in 103 items of activity in the reporting year locally and internationally, including the CNN, RTHK, TVB, ATV and other outlets.

4.4 Publications

A large number of our academic staff across our 16 Departments have published their research in top-tier or major refereed journals in their disciplines or in monograph series/book titles with renowned publishers. In the reporting period, over 170 papers by our faculty and research postgraduate students were published in refereed journals such as the Journal of the American Taxation Association, Journal of Accounting Research, Journal of Banking and Finance, Journal of International Economics, Journal of Development Economics, European Journal of Operational Research, Production and Operations Management, Expert Systems with Applications, Journal of Vocational Behavior, Social Science Research, Economy and Society, Journal of Medical Ethics, 《中國文化研究所學報》, 《文學遺產》, 《文藝爭鳴》, 《中國翻譯》, and 《中央研究院近代史研究所集刊》. Our Department of Accountancy ranked 13th in taxation research in the world as of the end of 2012, according to the annual survey conducted by Brigham Young University.

A book on world economy and a book in Philosophy were published by the Cambridge University Press. Our faculty have also been well represented as editors, editorial board members and reviewers of academic journals. In 2013/14, 21 faculty members served as editors in 23 academic journals, and another 11 members participated in 16 book reviews.

Publications and outputs from research activities of our academics and research postgraduate students are listed in Report 3.

4.5 Conferences

The following conferences were held on Lingnan campus with funding from our internal Conference Fund, the GRF, and other sources.

- a) 32 top-notched scholars in the fields of pre-modern Chinese literature and Confucian classics presented their papers in the International Conference on Sinology and re-launch of the Lingnan Journal organized by the Department of Chinese on 1-2 November 2013. Selected papers from this conference have been sent for peer review for possible publication in the inaugural issue of the new journal.
- b) The “International Academic Conference: Plum Flowers in a Chaotic World of Water – The Production and Circulation of Hong Kong Pulp Fiction in the 1940s and 1950s” was organized by the Centre for Humanities Research of LU on 14 December 2013. It brought together a number of scholars and postgraduate students from Hong Kong, Taiwan, Mainland China, Singapore and Canada. Guest speakers from the Hong Kong Academy of Performing Arts and the Hong Kong Film Archive were invited.
- c) The three-day conference on “Science: The Real Thing?” organized by the Department of Philosophy was held on 2-4 May 2014. It brought together a number of internationally renowned scholars from Hong Kong, Belgium, the UK and US to discuss the changing nature of scientific realism, and critically explore some new alternatives on the table. The conference attracted a large number of participants from the Hong Kong philosophy community.
- d) An International Conference on “Neo-moralism under Neoliberalism” was co-organized by the LU Department of Cultural Studies and Kwan Fong Cultural Research and Development Programme on 24-25 May 2014 with speakers from the US, Taiwan and Hong Kong.

Other conferences, symposia, seminars, workshops and public lectures organized by LU can be viewed on the relevant departmental websites.

5. Conclusions

Research outputs and scholarly activities of our faculty members in the past few years have put Lingnan University firmly on the global academic map. On the volume of research, our staff have published a total of 547 papers indexed in Scopus and 57 papers in Chinese that are included in mainland China's CNKI core journals and Taiwan HCI/SSCI indexed journals in 2007-2013. The volume of output per staff member (4.11) represents another advance on our performance last year (3.92). According to the SCImago Journal Ranking based on the Scopus database, our significant leap in the quality of our research outputs is well reflected in a big jump in the percentage of papers being indexed in the upper ranking quartile of journals in Scopus (from 28.2% in 2008/09 to 40.6% in 2012/13), coupled with a continuous decrease in the percentage of papers not indexed in Scopus (from 45.8% in 2008/09 to 18.7% in 2012/13). In terms of the SCImago Journal Rank, our research output ranking is better than four of the top seven liberal arts universities in the US listed on the National Liberal Arts Colleges Rankings.

The overall long-term research strategies of the University include:

- a) To continue driving research excellence through internal grants linked to performance in RGC grant application, various incentive measures and recognition awards.
- b) To enhance the quality of research outputs by publishing in top journals indexed by Scopus, AHCI/SSCI, ERIH, CNKI core journals and Taiwan HCI/SSCI, and in books from renowned publishers.
- c) To promote collaborative research and publication with external researchers especially those from overseas.

Our continuous efforts towards building a vibrant research environment, together with enhanced visibility of our achievements, will further reinforce these strategies. The digital repository of research outputs is already in place at the Lingnan University Library to share our intellectual and creative works with a global audience, so is the Author Gallery which showcases our researchers and their achievements. Our ultimate goal is to enable our research strengths to flourish in a wider and ever more competitive arena.
