Report 1: Overview

■ Institutional Policy on Research

Ethos and Strategy

Lingnan University is uniquely positioned in the higher education landscape of Hong Kong as the Special Administrative Region's first liberal arts university. Liberal Arts for us means that we place the student at the Centre and that we prize the breadth of the education and experience we provide the student with. But (like with many leading Liberal Arts colleges overseas) the concept for us does not entail absence from graduate education or from research. To the contrary, and unlike other overseas liberal arts universities that have a predominantly undergraduate teaching orientation, Lingnan is committed to achieving excellence and innovation in both teaching and research, including the training of research postgraduates. The University's mission sets out to promote effective teaching, to develop a vibrant culture for research and enquiry, and to produce world class research outputs. The equal emphasis we place on teaching and research is guided by the University's belief that advances in research and discussion can enrich the quality of teaching and learning. Our expectation for staff to provide teaching that is informed and inspired by their research under a congenial campus learning environment forms the basis for defining the character of our liberal arts education ethos.

As highlighted in previous reports, Lingnan's research policy is underpinned by a three-pronged approach of focused development, quality enhancement and collaborative endeavour. Focused development is achieved by identifying priority areas of research and the recruitment of staff to build up a critical mass in these areas. Quality enhancement is enabled through selective appointment and promotion of quality and performing staff, and the provision of staff development opportunities as well as dedicated funding for academic exchanges. Collaborative endeavor is fostered through the establishment of research centres serving as foci for the convergence of staff research interests and to attract external funding. Adoption of these approaches is explained in further details under various sections of this report.

Developments in the Reporting Period

As part of the Action Plan Updates to its Strategic Plan for 2009-2016, the University has initiated a review of the Focused Research Areas. Seven focused research areas of strengths were identified for 2012-2015, viz. Modern Literature in Chinese; International Financial Markets and Economic Performance; Taxation in China; Conflict Management in Chinese Business; Age and Work-Life Balance; Cinema Studies; and Cultural Policy and Heritage. The University will continue to build on the strong performance demonstrated by these focused research areas which cuts across its three faculties – arts, social sciences and business.

The resource allocation, work and operations of the Research Centres/Institutes were also reviewed for optimal utilisation of resources to support research. The administration of research centres was streamlined to ensure that resources were shifted to fund active research-support and project-based positions. The following nine Research Centres/Institutes/Programmes are currently active: Asia-Pacific Institute of Aging Studies; Centre for Cinema Studies, Centre for Humanities Research; Hong Kong Institute of Business Studies; Hong Kong and South China Historical Research Programme; Kwan Fong Cultural Research and Development Programme; and two virtual centres, Centre for Asian Pacific Studies and Centre for Public Policy Studies.

At the operational and management level, the University has restructured the Research and Postgraduate Studies Committee into two separate committees respectively with remits for research and postgraduate studies, each to remain as Standing Committees of the Senate. The newly constituted Research Committee (RC) also assumes the role of overseeing the work of the research units previously assumed by their individual Management Boards. The Office of Research Support (ORS) has also consolidated its functions in administering research, conference and study grants through the transfer of staff development administration to the Human Resources Office. The above mentioned measures are intended to bring about a leaner management and effective coordination of research policy matters at the University level.

Relationship between research policy and other institutional policies

Teaching and Learning. At the heart of the University's mission is to enhance the student learning experience. Towards this end, research serves to enrich the content and process of learning or what is referred to as research-informed teaching. Ample examples have been given in previous reports to illustrate how our staff has integrated their research interests into designing and delivering courses at the undergraduate level. The range of initiatives include offering courses related to staffs' research focus, abundant use of examples derived from research outcomes, utilisation of networks developed in the research process, and acquainting students with the methods of enquiry specific to their discipline of study.

Knowledge transfer. An important and distinguishing feature of our undergraduate education is the promotion of service learning across all programme curricula. Its implementation is coordinated by the Office for Service Learning, which has benefited a lot from the research expertise of the Asia-Pacific Institute of Aging Studies (APIAS) that has an extensive track record of community engagement. Some of our service-learning programmes, e.g. "Lingnan Community Researcher" and "Lingnan Service Learning Evaluation Programme", enable our students to apply skills of social science research in the design and evaluation of community needs and improvement project. Collectively, our staff and students have contributed actively to knowledge transfer from the university to the community, across the generation and ethnic divides, and from local to overseas settings. All these efforts demonstrate how action-based enquiry can help to realise our University's motto of "Education for Service".

Research postgraduate training. In the education of research postgraduates, the University places high priority in providing quality support to students and gives funding annually to support research students to attend conferences. In the reporting period, the University has allocated HK$0.22 million which supported participation in 20 conferences with 16 paper presentations. Integration of research postgraduates into the academic activities of the department is evidenced by their participation as presenters in departmental seminars, membership of research project teams and co-authorship in publications with staff (refer to Report 3).

Staff development. Staff development policy has a direct impact on staffs' research productivity. With this in mind, the University has pursued several measures to facilitate young faculty to perform research, to give space for staff to engage in uninterrupted periods of research and writing, and to recognise those who had excelled in their research endeavours. An Initial Research Activities Fund for Newly Recruited Assistant Professors provides ancillary funding for research-related activities without requiring the submission of a formal research proposal. In the reporting period, 9 newly appointed Assistant Professors were eligible to receive funding. A study/academic leave scheme of 6-12 months allows for academic staff to be released from teaching and administrative duties to concentrate on research, study and writing full time. Four such awards of half-term each were made in the reporting period for leaves to be taken between the period of July 2012 to June 2013. In addition, the biennial Research Excellence Awards Scheme is in place to recognise outstanding and meritorious research performance.

■ Research Funding

Organisation of research funding

The Research Committee under the Senate is responsible for both policy formulation and oversight of research activities in the University. It recommends to the University the annual allocation for research budget and related funding schemes, decides on all internal funding allocations and monitors progress of research projects funded by various grants. To carry out its various functions, RC sets up subcommittees for reviewing applications for conference grants, University Conference Fund, and ethical clearance for projects involving use of human subjects.

Research and Postgraduate Studies Panels (RPSP) are constituted in each of the three faculties to undertake initial assessment of applications for internal research grants and make funding recommendations to the RC. As the University disburses two types of internal research grants with money from the Direct Allocation (until 2011/12) and a supplementary portion coming from the Block Grant, smaller grants are decided by the RPSPs while larger grants are approved by the RC. The RPSPs also plays a role in commenting on GRF/ECS proposals before they are approved by RC for submission to RGC.

ORS provides full administrative support to RC and the RPSPs in the whole internal grant application review cycle as well as managing the grant award accounts to ensure that funding guidelines and budgetary procedures are properly followed by principal investigators.

Funding criteria

Internal grant applications are assessed by a rigorous process of peer review which takes into account the need to be supportive and constructive but at the same time ensuring only sound project ideas with well-thought out plans can receive funding support. The criteria used in assessing applications are: academic merit, feasibility of completion within the proposed time-frame, budgetary appropriateness, and the track record of the investigator(s). The competitive nature attached to the process serves to acquaint new faculty with the rigour of peer review for grant proposals as they eventually have to submit proposals for peer-reviewed external grants.

Usage and allocation of research funds

In 2011/12, the RC has approved a total of HK$2.59 million to support internal research grants benefiting 44 projects from 13 departments. Another $0.89 million was approved for conference grants that resulted in 97 academic paper presentations and participation in scholarly activities locally and overseas. In addition, two conferences hosted by APIAS and Department of History in Lingnan had received a total of $0.2 million in funding from the University Conference Fund. The careful consideration given to these applications by the RC ensures that money is well spent on activities that can generate further productive gains, such as internal research grants acting as precursor for GRF applications and conference papers that directly contribute to the volume of research outputs. A listing of all the internal research grants with funding coming from Block Grant and Direct Allocation are given in Reports 2(A) and 2(B) respectively.

■ Research Collaborations

To enable our staff to stay at the forefront of their disciplines, and to realise the strategy of quality enhancement following our three-thronged approach, the University encourages academic exchanges and has established a dedicated fund to support outgoing visits by staff to mainland China and the less-developed economies of Asia and incoming visits to Lingnan by scholars from these countries. In the reporting period, the scheme supported 5 outgoing and 3 incoming visits that enhanced Lingnan's linkage with major universities and research institutions in China such as Peking, Nanjing, Renmin, Sun Yat-sen and the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences.

In relation to external academic exchange schemes, 6 staff members have successfully applied for funding from the Sino-British Fellowship Trust that supports short-term conference attendance or sponsorship for intensive staff development and training. One successful application for sponsoring a scholar from Sun Yat-sen University to visit the Dept. of Economics for research collaboration was granted under the Croucher Visitorship Scheme and took place within this reporting period.

Collaborative links are actively pursued by staff at their individual level. This is evidenced by the recruitment of overseas researchers as co-investigators in many GRF project teams. Of our ongoing GRF projects, researchers from the following overseas universities: City University of New York, South Australia, Tufts, Western Kentucky, Washington and McMaster are enlisted as Co-investigators in respective projects. Our staff in the Dept. of Economics and Dept. of Sociology and Social Policy has acted as co-investigators to projects funded by the National Natural Science Foundation of China (NSFC).

Our third strategy of collaborative endeavour is successfully carried out through the initiatives of research centres/institutes often in association with departments where centre members are closely associated to. The collaborative endeavours take on various forms, such as hosting of conference with renowned external bodies, seeking funds from private sources, and reaching out to the community and professions. Examples of collaborative endeavours for each type are given below:

1. Joint conferences

The Kwan Fong Cultural Research and Development Programme and the Dept. of Cultural Studies co-organised the 1st South-South Forum on Sustainability with Renmin University and the United Nations Development Programme (China) which was held on Dec 12-14, 2011 in Lingnan. The meeting was well attended by renowned scholars and eminent speakers across the globe to share insights on sustainability. The HK Institute of Business Studies continues to organise the annual Academy of International Business Southeast Asia Regional Conference which was held on Dec 1-3, 2011 in Taipei. The conference with the theme of "Economic and Political Transformation: Implications and Impact on Global Business" was attended by more than 100 scholars from over 18 countries. The Centre of Asian Pacific Affairs played host to a conference in Lingnan co-sponsored by the Consulate General of the Republic of Korea entitled “Peace and Security on the Korean Peninsula: Beyond Six Party Talks”. The conference drew participation from renowned scholars from the two Koreas as well as countries to the six-party talks.

2. External Funding

The Centre for Public Policy Studies and the Hong Kong and South China Historical Research Programme have been successful in attracting funding through commissioned projects from diverse sources. Salient examples include corporate and private charity funds given to the ongoing Happiness Index survey, and various book contract projects relating to Hong Kong local history themes funded by district board council, government department, and archive and records offices.

3. Community and professional outreach

The Centre for Humanities Research serves as focal point for dialogue between local scholars with interest in modern Chinese literature and cinema and their counterparts in mainland China, Taiwan and other parts of the world. The Centre has an active conference, seminar hosting and publication agenda and connects with renowned writers who are invited to be speakers in seminars. The Centre for Cinema Studies includes members that cut across departments in the Faculty of Arts. It has strong connections to local film makers and film scholars and forged alliance with the Chinese Independent Filmmaking Alliance and other film scholars in the world. The Asia Pacific Institute of Aging Studies has recognised expertise in community engagement and shares close ties to regional health authorities (e.g. Macao SAR Social Welfare Bureau, United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (ESCAP). It has received funding for commissioned projects from a variety of private sources including private foundations and charities (HK Women Development Association, HK Women’s Foundation, Fung Ying Sin Koon).

■ Research Highlights

Grants

In the 2011-2012 exercise, seven GRF grants to the amount of $3,947,000 were awarded to our staff. The application success rate of 30.4% compares favourably with the sector-wide average. Two other external grants are worthy of mention in this report, viz. the “Chinese Opera Annals and Music Anthology Project” funded by the Hong Kong Heritage Museum to the tune of HK$8.5 million, and the “Age Diversity: Applying the Capabilities Approach to Career Development across the Life Course “ funded under the ESRC/RGC Joint Research Scheme. This project involving collaboration between researchers in Lingnan and Middlesex University is the second such grant awarded to the University under the joint research scheme.

Our non-UGC/RGC funding source for projects has increased in diversity and reach over the years. Some notable ones from government and government –related bodies include the Arts Development Council, Cantonese Opera Development Fund, HK Heritage Museum, Social Welfare Development Fund, Commission on Youth, HK Institute for Monetary Research of HKMA, Marine Department, etc. Non-HK funding sources include the Social Welfare Bureau of Macao SAR, National Publication Department of PRC, Help Age International and Peace Women Across the Globe, to name a few.

A full listing of the funding obtained from non-UGC/RGC sources is detailed in Report 2(C).

Publications

A majority of our staff members across all 15 academic departments have published their research in top-tier or major refereed journals in their disciplines, or in monograph series/book titles with renowned publishers. There is also a fair spread of participation by staff as editors, editorial board members, and ad hoc reviewers of academic journals. Some of our departments also maintain their own active publication channels of student and staff works. Of notable mention is the “Journal of Modern Literature in Chinese” which is undergoing digitization by Gale/Cengage for gaining wider dissemination.

The publications/outputs arising from our staff and research postgraduate students’ research activities are listed in Report 3.

Conferences

The following conferences were sponsored by the University Conference Fund and took place in Lingnan during the reporting period:

1. “International Conference on Work-Life Balance and Social Policy” was held on Nov 8, 2011 and organised by the Dept. of Sociology and Social Policy. The meeting was attended by local academics, students and professionals from social work, health, teaching and management professions.
2. “What Environment Do we Want? Environmental Aesthetics and Its Implications” was held on Nov 18-20, 2011. The conference was organised by the Department of Visual Studies and drew attendance from scholars in a wide range of disciplines.
3. “The Work and Legacy of Robert Nisbet” was held on May 7-8, 2012 and organised by the Faculty of Social Sciences.
4. “The Art and Metaphysics Conference” was held in May 16-18, 2012 and organised by the Dept. of Philosophy.

5. “The 2nd International Leadership Assembly of Nursing Homes cum APIAS-Tsao-ILC Symposium for Junior Researchers on Active Ageing 2012” was held on June 27-28, 2012. It was organised by APIAS and co-sponsored by the Chinese International Nursing Home Leadership Association and the International Longevity Centre (ILC) Singapore. The conference attracted more than 150 participants from a host of countries in East and Southeast Asia.

Other conferences/seminars/workshops/public lectures organized by Lingnan departments and academic units can be viewed at their individual departmental website listings.

Research Productivity and Ranking

Our departments have demonstrated their strengths through publishing in top journals which helped to gain visibility and recognition for the University in the highly competitive international higher education scene. In this reporting period, our Dept. of Economics is ranked very well in the widely cited global rankings of financial economics publications. Lingnan achieved a ranking of 36 in the Arizona State University (ASU) World Finance Research Ranking and tied with four other prestigious universities including Dartmouth College, Georgetown University, University of Notre Dame, and Purdue University. This ranking is based on the number of articles published in the top three leading financial economic journals in 2011: Journal of Finance, Journal of Financial Economics, and Review of Financial Studies.

■ Conclusions

We have made great strides in our mission to become both a teaching and research oriented liberal arts university. Our research achievements and quality of educational offerings have no doubt helped to place the University amongst the league of fine research and teaching institutions in the Asian region. In the 2011 QS Ranking of Asian Universities, Lingnan is ranked favourably and ahead of some research-oriented and comprehensive universities in China and Taiwan, despite the fact that both its size and young age as a university in Hong Kong bring it below the radar screen of many academics in the wider Asia-Pacific region, whose views weigh centrally in those rankings. Lingnan is proud of its achievements in attracting competitive RGC grants in recent years, or indeed Hong Kong PhD Fellowship Scheme where our attraction to foreign students is testimony to the global reputation and networks of many of our academic staff. Across our departments and research centres/institutes, we have a very high ratio of PhD holders amongst our staff (currently at 98.5%) which has sustained ongoing and active efforts in publishing papers and applying for research grants. Amidst the attention paid to doing research, all our staff continue to carry teaching duties and are equally enthusiastic in the education of undergraduate students.

Being a predominantly business, humanities and social sciences subject-centered institution and due to our relatively smaller scale of operation and undergraduate focus, we are faced with two major challenges concerning research funding and research postgraduate places allocation. These issues have been raised in previous reports but are even timelier to be brought up again in this report.

First, the gradual reduction of block grant funding for research and the phasing out of Direct Allocation from 2012/13 will increase the pressure on University to reallocate more resources from its Block Grant to fund internal research grants. In many of the disciplines where our departments represent, small grants have served as important catalyst for enabling staff to acquire the experience and obtain preliminary results necessary for them to apply for GRF/ECS grants. Also, the change of formula for calculation of GRF/ECS on-costs as PI cost/on-cost/HSSPFS premium to tie in with performance in GRF/ECS applications of the previous year makes it difficult for institutions to plan ahead as there is a lag period of one year in knowing the actual sum of overhead to be disbursed by RGC. In addition, as more money from UGC block grant research portion is moved to competitive-based research grant schemes of the RGC other than GRF/ECS, many of these RGC grant schemes have a strong science and technology bias that decreases the chance for researchers in our chosen disciplines to apply.

Second, we have mentioned in many previous reports about the low number of research postgraduates allocated to Lingnan that had restricted our staff from partaking in supervision opportunities. Currently, we have 43 UGC funded research postgraduate places as against a total of 133 Assistant Professor rank and above who are eligible to supervise research students. This problem is even more acute now when RGC expects new Assistant Professors in their first 3 years of appointment who received ECS grants to have gained primary supervisory experience upon project completion. We hope the RGC can revisit the research postgraduate allocation mechanism and address our concern in the earnest.

Looking ahead, our imminent priority will be in preparing well for the RAE2014 exercise. We would want to see the continuation of vibrant research culture in our departments and sustainability of their research efforts. At the same time, we would need to ensure that whilst we pursue research excellence, our teaching commitments based on small class, close support and contact between teachers and students are preserved as a defining feature of our quality undergraduate education at Lingnan.

Explanatory Notes for Report 3

Type of Output:

- A Academic research: refereed
- B Academic research: not refereed
- C Contract research
- D Other outputs

Research Output Category:

1 Scholarly books, monographs and chapters

- 11 Research book or monograph (author) – Authored work generally arising from academic research project(s) although contract research can produce such results if findings are in the public domain
- 12 Chapter in an edited book (author) – A paper, essay, or other material authored specifically for inclusion in an edited book; does not include an opening or summary chapter prepared by an editor for inclusion in a work counted in (14)
- 13 Textbook (author) – A full-length authored work used for instructional purposes; include revisions if they involve "substantial" (say 20%) new material
- 14 Edited book (editor) – an edited book of essays, research papers or the equivalent

2 Journal publications

- 21 Publication in refereed journal – A paper in a refereed journal devoted to reporting the results of basic or applied research
- 22 Publication in policy or professional journal – A paper in a refereed or unrefereed journal publishing policy or educational material for a professional audience

3 Conference papers

- 31 Invited conference paper – A paper invited for presentation at an academic or professional meeting and published (in full or in part) in conference proceedings
- 32 Refereed conference paper – A paper accepted for presentation at an academic or professional meeting on the basis of a formal peer review process external to the institution and published (in full or in part) in conference proceedings
- 33 Other conference paper – Any other paper presented at an academic or professional conference

4 Creative and literary works, consulting reports and case studies

- 41 Authored play, poem, novel, story – Fictional or similar works, published in a form appropriate to the type of work
- 42 Painting, sculpture, drawing, photograph – Creation of artefacts capable of being reviewed for merit, generally but not exclusively of an artistic nature [exclude those covered in (44) below]
- 43 Film, video – Creation of films, videos, multimedia, and similar productions for research, educational, cultural or entertainment purposes [exclude those covered in (44) below]
- 44 Performance and participation in exhibits – Drama, musical and similar performances; participation as an exhibitor of paintings, sculptures or other artefacts: the exhibit may be sponsored by the institution or externally; it should attract significant public or professional attention
- 45 Translation of other's work – Translation of an item of type (11) through (22) and (41) above, written by others: translation of one's own work is considered part of the authoring process and should not be included

- 46 Engineering, architectural, graphic designs – An engineering, architectural, graphic, landscape, or interior design (or the equivalent), whether prepared for a client or in the public domain
- 47 Computer software or system – Development of a shareable computer software program, computer language, expert system, computer-aided instruction package or the equivalent
- 48 Consulting or contract research report – Report on work performed under an institutional consulting or research contract: reports counted here generally will be prepared for the client, and they may be proprietary if institutional rules permit
- 49 Written teaching case study or extensive note – Material prepared for teaching purposes with applicability beyond one's own course needs; short notes and descriptions prepared for immediate class use should not be included

5 Patents, agreements, assignments and companies

- 51 Patents granted – patents (on work done at the reporting institution) granted by patent office(s) to the reporting institution within the specified reporting period; not patents filed, not patents held in previous years, and not patents obtained/held on work done elsewhere
- 52 Licensing agreements – the licensing of technology/invention from the reporting institution within the specified reporting period
- 53 Assignments of intellectual property rights – the assignment based on technology/invention from the reporting institution within the specified reporting period
- 54 Companies – registered companies in which the institution holds an equity by virtue of technology transfer, where the acquisition of such equity (including any increase in equity) by technology transfer occurred during the specified reporting period

6 All other outputs

- 61 Journal editor – Editor, associate editor, or the equivalent of a journal or similar on-going publication venture ('editorial membership' should be excluded)
- 62 Review of books or of software – Published or widely-disseminated reviews of books, other publications, software or similar items: dissemination must extend beyond the institution and its research sponsors [reviews for institutional clients should be counted under (49)]
- 63 Postgraduate research theses – MPhil or PhD theses of research students who defended successfully within the specified reporting period
- 64 Other outputs – Any substantive output of original research not listed above

Notes

1. Publications are listed by cost centres. For each publication, the name(s) of the author(s) belonging to the corresponding cost centre (during the reporting period) is/are underlined. In the case of students, a "#" is placed against their names.
2. The fraction appearing in the "Weighting" column of those co-authored items denotes the weighting of the authors concerned, calculated on a pro-rata basis. For example, a paper with four authors will count as 0.25 for each author, and if three of the four authors are staff members in the same cost centre, the paper will count as $3 \times 0.25 = 0.75$ in the cost-centre total.
